

5 Movies to watch now, while you're sitting on your seat.

I painstakingly chose these movies one by one, so that you would have the best time of your life just watching these movies. So ready your popcorn and drinks, fix the couch, ready the coffee table and get ready to press the play button in the media player you're using. HAPPY MOVIE MARATHON

1. 3 Idiots

3 best friends trying to survive school but are always being picked on especially by their teacher. Watch along as they do crazy feats and sometime fail.

If you're one of those people who want to watch underdogs struggle for survival and one of those people who just want to sit down and laugh at a really funny movie or you just really want to laugh at people having epic fails this is the movie for you.

My Comments

It is really one of those movies that just leave you hanging with impossible feats. #VaccumBaby

2. Blended

A divorced woman and a widower meet on a blind date which turns out to be a terrible event. Then on an Africa Vacation they meet again in family moon.

A movie filled with comedy, romance, suspense, and a little bit of action that will leave you craving for more and more until you just explode but not literally. With unexpected and very surprising twists and surprises..... wait surprising surprises (million dollar idea alert) just AWESOME.

My Comments

A movie so fresh and so new but a little vulgar, just a little. One of the best movies I've ever watched. Just.....WOW.
